\viewkind4\uc1\pard\f0\fs16 Here's my thought: If a goddess, mind you a Goddess, has granted you a full body diamond armor, would she, a god, not know the weakness of a diamond armor and sword.\par

\par

The armor is flawless, meaning it has no flaws. The diamond would have be a complete seamless diamond, with no points to crack and shatter.\par

\par

The armor may be full diamond, but did it say how it was full diamond? How do you know if the goddess has put some super shock resistant substance beneath all that diamond?\par

\par

And about the weight, heavier things make you use more strength to move them, thus making you tired quicker. But
